Entertaining With Ease!

When entertaining, your kitchen inevitably becomes the hub of the home. Making sure that there is proper flow through the space, as well as adequate room for food preparation and mingling, are all things to be considered during a kitchen renovation. There are important questions to ask such as...

How many people do you host?

How often do you entertain?

How can you design for everyday accessibility as well as entertaining?

Space Saving Primary Bath

This couple wished to update their primary suite to be more modern, have better features, more privacy, and improved storage. The old layout contained wasted space and an old unused tub that was no longer needed. The new design was reimagined to include a separate toilet room for added privacy as well as new windows for more natural light. A new shower includes a built-in bench, multiple niches, body sprays, and a handheld showerhead for several luxurious options. Another interesting feature that was designed to help save space are separate vanities so that both homeowners can have their own personal space as well as plenty of individual storage. The result is a stunning new primary bathroom for them to enjoy and relax in and feel like they have an at-home spa.

Thank You To Our Sub Contractors & Vendors!

At Mitchell Construction there are a lot of people that come together on a project to make someone's dream home come true. This doesn't only apply to our own employees, but very much includes a long list of sub contractors and vendors. We pride ourselves on working with the best in the business - from our plumbers and electricians, to painters and plasterers, to the people that supply our appliances, tile, and flooring.

We recently held an appreciation event for these talented individuals at TopGolf! It was a fun night of food, games, and celebrating working together to make dreams a reality. It's a pleasure working with so many great people!
